

CORRESPONDENCE.

The columns of the Mail are open for the discussion of all matters of public interest. Correspondence on all appropriate subjects is solicited, and it will receive due attention. Communications should be reasonably brief and to the point. While publishing letters on subjects of public interest, the Mail will not necessarily be always responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

To the Editor of the Mail.

Sir—There is some prominence given, by editorial reference in your paper to a notice of Mr. Wm. Scott, of Seattle City, published in your advertising columns. Mr. Scott declines to the public that the notice of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Company is incorrect. Surely a discerning public will see that whether or not Mr. Scott's period of service has expired, the employer can at any time dismiss the employee, and that the latter can then only resort to an action for damages. In this, Mr. Scott's own construction of the agreement, it will be seen that his actions are not those of a sensible man. Such, however, is not the provision in the agreement of hiring. I shall not here point out what it is, but ask any person interested to ask Mr. Scott to produce his copy of the agreement for perusal. It is so plain that even Mr. Scott cannot be deceived.

He says he is "Manager" of the Company. Without referring to the manner in which he got this name, I may have say that he made a point of using it until two or three months ago when acting under the advice of his solicitor, I suppose he ceased using it and subscribed himself "Supt. of Works." Now he falls back on his old love and reverts to the "Manager."

I would not discuss this matter before the public were it not that Mr. Scott by his published notice attempts to preserve an impression he has all summer been diligent in establishing, in and around Brandon, that he occupies a position he does not, and never did, occupy.

I have no desire to injure Mr. Scott in his career. I shall be glad to see him in the county.

Yours, etc.,

G. B. GORDON,
Solicitor for the Company.

BRANDON, 29th Dec., 1882.
[The prominence referred to by Mr. Gordon was not editorial. It was in the Mail's local column.—Ed. Mail.]

To the Editor of the Mail.

Sir—With reference to the communication of "Victor" in last evening's Sun, the proprietors of the Skating Rink would respectfully state that if "Victor" will repeat his charges over his own signature, they will reply to them in full, but they will not take any further notice of a correspondent who hides himself under the cloak of an alias.

Respectfully yours,

MURK & SHAW, Prop.
BRANDON, Dec. 28, 1882.

To the Editor of the Mail.

DEAR SIR:—I see in your columns of this morning, "Onlooker" has been making free with my name, and doing himself as to what I know about costumes. Before being so previous he had better post himself as to facts.

The Chinaman's suit worn at the last carnival formerly belonged to me, and I disposed of it to the present owner. The knight of the 14th century costume does not belong to the same person. In fact the only point of truth made by "Onlooker" was that the suit representing a knight in armour did belong to the bear.

That "Onlooker" knows nothing about the making of costumes, I am perfectly willing to admit, but the fact of his ignorance is no excuse for chasing me with him. The suit worn by me was made for me by Mr. G. W. Alexander, under my directions, and was suggested to me by witnessing Goulbe's German play of Faust, Fox's American Theatre, in the City of Philadelphia, in 1876.

I hope this will satisfy "Onlooker" that this time sure he has made a rather huge mistake, and hope in future that when an article in a newspaper does not suit his fastidious taste, that he will not drag the name of innocent persons into the controversy.

Trusting you will give this explanation a place in your paper.

I remain,

Yours Very Truly,

ROBT. J. SALISBURY,
BRANDON, Dec. 29th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Mail.

DEAR SIR:—It might possibly have suggested itself to "An Old Customer" who appears in Thursday evening's Sun, that while he undertook to assert that the Knight of the 14th Century wore his cloak wrong, the censorial "Old Customer" would have done no harm if he had explained the why and the wherefore of the wrong. As the wearer of the cloak referred to, I shall be most happy to afford Mr. "O. C." a fair opportunity, a public exhibition if necessary, in order that veterans in the art may have an opportunity of more fully illustrating the correct way of wearing the mantle.

Frankly, I have to say, without joking, that I don't pretend to any special enlightenment on the subject of costumes. I obtained the costume I wore on Wednesday evening from Mr. Alexander, who I am credibly informed is an authority on such subjects. What special infliction "O. C." is laboring under it is hard to say. He seems to insinuate that there has been partiality and injustice; but I cannot see that these are in any way connected with the intelligence that I did not wear the cloak in a right position. I don't think that this should be a killing matter, anyway. With the issues raised by "Onlooker" I am in no way concerned, and I will leave those issues to be decided on their own merits. I am quite willing to live and learn.

Yours respectfully,

N. J. HALPINE.

BRANDON, Dec. 29th.
[It looks as though this controversy which an "Old Customer" has started is going to degenerate into a quadrangular duel. As the matter now stands, an "Old Customer" has fired on Mr. Halpene who returns the fire. "Onlooker" has discharged his fire at "Old Customer," while Mr. Salisbury pours a raking fire into "Onlooker." The public will await with much suspense to see where "Onlooker" will next open. Altogether the matter is becoming interesting, though the fence is still in our opinion, without the typical trigger which "Old Customer" has managed to conjure up. Our readers need not become alarmed, as the seconds have, by an understated arrangement, loaded the weapons with blank cartridges only.—Ed. Mail.]

We had a call yesterday from Mr. Vaughan, photographer, who placed on the March editorial table a number of stereoscopic views of Brandon, Grand Valley, Regina, and other important centres of trade, settlement and civilization in our far west. The photographs under the magnifying power of the stereoscope are next to life itself. They are finished with a first-class touch, and great numbers are being ordered. Mr. F. V. Vaughan, who is a partner of the firm will be in Brandon next week, and those who desire to purchase are preparing for a summer excursion amongst the beautiful valleys of our lagustrine river streams of the boundaries.

Clipped from Exchange

The veterinary surgeons of the "Purification of Mr. Acton Burgess" office, Winnipeg, on Thursday evening last, and discussed the matters question very thoroughly. The chairman proposed to lay all suggestions before the Minister of Agriculture, with the view of their being incorporated in an amended act to be passed in the next session of the legislative Assembly. The necessity of inspecting at the boundary domestic animals imported from the United States having been ascertained, it was decided to nominate the Dominion Minister of Agriculture as the person to take action in the matter. The meeting then adjourned.

TITLE

The first offering was appointed for the 10th day of Christmas tree, which was attended near the amount of zeal and perseverance for the interest of the society by their number. Mr. Leland, I was just attended 25, and the children, who were about 25, came to the church in the afternoon, and were singing, from the 1st to the 10th class. They sang, and played and sang, much to the enjoyment of their audience and to the credit of the teachers, who seemed to be the most of them, showing that they were well trained. The chairman, Mr. Leland, was thanked.
